WolfPeak

In response to increasing environmental and regulatory complexity, Sequana has partnered with WolfPeak to deepen its environmental and sustainability expertise and strengthen its integrated national platform across critical infrastructure sectors.

THE PARTNERSHIP

WolfPeak joins Sequana in a values-aligned partnership that enhances capability across environmental planning, biodiversity, sustainability, natural capital and climate risk, supporting clients across complex water, environment and energy programs.

ABOUT WOLFPEAK

WolfPeak, a respected Australian environmental and sustainability consultancy, is known for its practical, science-based solutions to complex regulatory and environmental challenges. Its expertise spans environmental planning, biodiversity assessment, climate risk, natural capital, sustainability strategy, ESG advisory and independent environmental auditing. WolfPeak supports government and industry clients in navigating evolving regulatory standards and delivering resilient, sustainable outcomes. The firm's rigorous, solution-oriented approach enhances Sequana's capacity to deliver high-quality environmental advisory services across increasingly complex infrastructure and climate-related projects.

BACKGROUND TO THE PARTNERSHIP

Sequana is expanding its national platform to meet growing demand for integrated environmental, sustainability and advisory capability across water, environment and energy. Federal environmental planning reform, heightened regulatory requirements and accelerating climate pressures are increasing the need for robust and specialist environmental expertise.

WolfPeak's deep capability directly complements Sequana's advisory and delivery strengths, enhancing the Group's ability to support clients through complex approvals, environmental assessment and climate-related challenges. Building on recent partnerships with Atlas and IPS, the addition of WolfPeak continues Sequana's strategy of purposeful, values-aligned growth across high-impact sectors.

THE VENDORS PERSPECTIVE (QUOTE FROM WOLFPEAK/SEQUANA)

“Joining the Sequana Group is a natural evolution for WolfPeak. We share a commitment to practical problem-solving, scientific rigour and creating a meaningful and positive impact for our clients and the communities and environments we live and work in. Together, we can support clients facing increasingly complex regulatory and climate challenges with deeper expertise, greater scale and a unified, purpose-driven approach.”

STEVE FERMIO, FOUNDER & DIRECTOR, WOLFPEAK

THE FUTURE

Sequana and WolfPeak will collaborate to deepen environmental and sustainability capability across Australia, enhancing advisory certainty and strengthening support for complex infrastructure programs. Together, they will help clients navigate evolving regulatory, climate and stakeholder environments and deliver more resilient, sustainable and community-centred project outcomes.
